INDEX OF GREEK AUTHORS

This list generally omits: Church Fathers; Byzantine writers; authors of whose writings little or nothing survives (but a number are included who need to be distinguished from others of the same name, if this affects classification).

Characterisations unsuitable for use as epithets in the catalogue are enclosed in parentheses.

Authors whose headings begin 'Pseudo-': when classifying, use the element which follows 'Pseudo-' (e.g. classify Pseudo-Callisthenes as Callisthenes).

* indicates that this index does not distinguish between two or more authors of the same name.

+ indicates that the same author is also included in the Philosophy scheme.

713-715INDEX OF LATIN AUTHORS & ANONYMOUS WORKS

Most authors and works of the following types are omitted, unless their classification is exceptional, or there might be doubt about how they should be characterised:

Church Fathers (usually classified at 44.5/44.6 if writing in Latin), unless they wrote secular works also. (But Christian poets are listed here.)

Jurists and legal texts (usually classified at 272).

Authors who wrote after about 500 A.D. (usually classified at 716.1-716.8).

Authors whose headings begin 'Pseudo-': when classifying, use the element which follows 'Pseudo-' (e.g. classify Pseudo-Hyginus as Hyginus).

* indicates that the established classification uses this form, although the Main Catalogue heading begins with a different letter.

+ indicates that the same author is also included in the Philosophy scheme.
